

Mohini Thakur

Project Associate, UNDP – BIOFIN Project

Mohini obtained her B.Sc. (Hons.) from Chemistry department, Miranda House, University of Delhi and M.A. Environment and Development from Ambedkar University Delhi. In her professional journey she has worked with several national and international organizations, and has engaged with over 1500+ youths, for effective implementation of the environment and development projects. She has contributed as a co-author for the Indian chapter in the UNDP publication, ‘Access and Benefit Sharing: From Theory to Practice under the Nagoya Protocol’.

Phone – +919990696550

Mail – mohini.thakur@undp.org